

WILLIAM MERRIMAN ARCHITECTS LLC

THE CARRIAGE HOUSE

Located on 12 acres of riverfront property of in Southcentral Alaska, the Carriage House was conceived as a guest house for visitors. The Carriage House is part of a larger property design that encompasses a main house, barns, woodsheds, a smokehouse, a bridge and multiple natural streams reminiscent of Adirondack Fish Camps. The carriage house occupies a south and river facing knoll that becomes a gathering spot for guests.

A delicate glassed porch encloses a high-end stainless kitchen designed for fish processing and canning with custom stainless cabinets, LaCanche range, overhead sprayers and washdown area, vacuum packer and flash freezers.

The second floor includes living spaces with views of Mt. Redoubt and 1200 feet of river frontage. A dumbwaiter allows wood to be brought up from below, while a cupola and custom lighting shine through expressed timber framing of the great room.

PRELIMINARY RENDERING

Square Footage:	1,700
Completion Date:	2016
Architecture:	Will Merriman and Josh Sundstrom
Construction:	WillowRidge Construction
Engineering:	Arete, LLC

UNDER CONSTRUCTION